

11th Annual Glenkirk Run at Jesse Oaks on July 13th, 2008

By Jennifer Knourek
Owner / Editor
Illinois / Wisconsin Biker
Information Guide

I had attended this benefit in the past and there was an amazing turn out. Although not as big a crowd this year according to the Jesse Oaks, they had a great day. The Glenkirk Run at Jesse Oaks this year was the 11th of it's kind. And it is for a well known Non-Profit organization in Lake County Illinois providing residential, vocational and support services for individuals with developmental disabilities.

All motorized vehicles were welcome and the run stops included several biker friendly establishments including one of our beloved advertisers J.Q. Foxes in Sturtevant, WI. (a little plug for our advertiser there) but not to take anything away from the other fine establishments that contributed to the ride. Groups of riders and drivers were well received at all of the locations including Rusty Nail, Rumors, R&R, J.Q. Foxes, and Skinny's South Shore.

We were covering three other events that day so were unable to join the ride this year but ran into Skip and Sean from Jesse Oaks before the bikes returned, watching over the parking lot and taking care of everything. We took some great photos of the attendees from Glenkirk and the riders themselves. We had several offers to include the collection of personal photos taken during the event and I'm sure there are many more to be shared. This day was obviously very successful if you can gage it at all by the smiles on peoples faces.

Check out our web site and link to Gotcha Pictures for the Jesse Oaks album and send us your opinions. Watch for upcoming rides on our Rides and Events section of our web site, and plan to join in on the fun.